

About Us

The Wild Law Institute is dedicated to pioneering laws and practices that recognize and uphold the rights of every member of the community of life, as a foundation for building ecologically sustainable and just societies. We work in alliance with indigenous and local peoples, organisations and individuals from around the world who are united in their love for Earth, and a determination to work for the benefit of all.

OUR VALUES

1 We prioritise positive actions that create systemic change

We focus on taking actions that create the systemic changes in society that will advance our vision of societies in which humans increase their wellbeing by living in harmony with Nature. We prefer to build the societies we want now, instead of critiquing or reacting to what is not working.

2 We work collaboratively

We recognise that bringing about this transformative change will require many people to work together, in many ways, to achieve our shared vision. We know that it will take the strength of community and collaborative action to achieve our goals.

3 We strive to be sensitive to context

We recognise that Earth Jurisprudence is neither static nor homogenous and must be context-specific in how it is applied. The laws and governance systems of different cultures, societies and communities must reflect their understanding of how to regulate themselves as part of the Earth Community. Earth Jurisprudence cannot be imposed.

4 We stand for freedom and justice

We stand against all systems of oppression, domination and injustice.

5 We value diversity

We recognize diversity as a foundational principle on which all life is based, and the source of its endless creativity and dynamism. This also applies to the organisation and how we work.
